Dani's highlight:

Dani raised a considerable proportion of her target through corporate sponsorship, which is a fantastic way to raise money! Sending out letters/emails to businesses is not at all time-consuming, and the payoff can be huge. Check out our template letter on the Resources Hub for requesting corporate sponsorship if you're stuck for ideas!

Dani's advice:

"My biggest bit of advice would be to start early and don't be scared of being rejected because there are some very very generous people out there you just have to find them! Events in your local area are great, especially if you can get your friends and family to invite others to a quiz or bingo night. Even better if there's a bar of some sort as people are always generous after a beer or two!"
